The Macarthur Centre for Sustainable Living – Guided tour and morning tea

The Centre is a non-profit, community driven organization, with the aim of promoting sustainable homes and gardens. The Centre is a unique and high profile information, education and demonstration centre. The Centre includes functioning displays of renewable solar energy production and use, waste recycling, water and energy efficient, waste avoidance and management. The Centre demonstrates environmentally sound design and construction methods, utilizing renewable and recycles building materials.

The Australian Botanic Garden, Mount Annan – guided tour

This expansive garden and parkland will delight your senses with the sights, sounds and smells that are the essence of Australia. The eucalypt fragrance of gum trees, the wild profusion of yellow wattle blossom in August, the unique calls of the native birdlife, the glimpse of the timid wallaby. The garden features picnic facilities and walking tracks

Buffet (all you can eat) Lunch at Campbelltown RSL Club -

Star Buffet can offer you great value gourmet buffet, ranging from Australian, Asian and European cuisine, roast duck and BBQ pork plus all your favourite seafoods and roasts, not to mention the many tempting desserts in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

Glenalvon Historic House – guided tour

Earlier known as Australian House – it was erected by Michael Byrne, a publican in around 1843. The land was an original grant to the publican Michael Byrne in 1831 but the grant was not signed by the Governor until 1839. One of the conditions of the grant was that a house must be built on the estate within 2 years. In 1844 Glenalvon was taken over by Jon Keighran. In 1878 it was sold to William and Edwin Fieldhouse. After 1891 Glenalvon was leased to a succession of tenants.
