Whale Watching BBQ Lunch Cruise
Sunday 13th of August 2017

Time and Location: 11.30 Meet at King St Wharf 9 (cruise commences 12.15 and finish at 4.15)

Seeing these giant mammals of the sea has the ability to change your whole view on life. The gracefulness, the peacefulness, the playfulness, the curiosity, the showmanship and the awesome power of a humpback whale is something everyone should witness in their lifetime.

Whale watching is an exhilarating adventure, seeing these incredible creatures frolicking and swimming in the ocean is an awe-inspiring treat that you will remember forever! Breaching, tail slaps, spy hopping, fluke dives and peduncle throws are all some of the great moves you may see from the whales on their migrations. The whale population is increasing each year and and this year there is 16,000 plus whales expected to migrate past Sydney, which gives great opportunity to see them as Sydney is on their migration routes. Whale watching season runs from May-November. From May – August the whales are on their Northern migration to Tropical North Queensland and then from mid-August – November they are on their southern migration back to the Antarctic along with their new born calves, the little calves are just gorgeous.
